What does it mean to be a cancer survivor? What about a co-survivor? There are common themes that emerge when you talk to survivors but, just like the experience of cancer and cancer treatment, everyone has different physical and emotional experiences in their survivorship. For some people “survivorship” isn’t even a term they use, preferring to find other ways to label their experience.

On behalf of the whole team we invite you to join us throughout June as we explore the many aspects of survivorship, including mind-body skills, exercise, community connections, support, and celebration.

The Mind-body Skills Series for Survivors
starts May 30 and continues June 6, 20, & 27

The 6-week Survivorship Series will begin on June 4

We will be “Embracing Wellness” on June 12, 18, & 26 (for survivors and co-co-survivors)

On June 26th as part of “Embracing Wellness” we will be hosting a Survivorship celebration at 7:30pm after the movement class

And please join all Cancer CAREpoint clients and staff on June 13 and 21 for our community tea-times! Visit with new and old friends and share some tea (we’ll have iced!) and light snacks. Open to patients, survivors, caregivers and family.

For the Community Tea, registration is not required but is appreciated. Hope to see you there!
